May Their Memory Always Be For A Blessing

An Introduction to Yizkor

Yizkor is a very special service where we remember. We remember our love for those who are no longer with us. We remember the people who gave us life, gave us hope, gave us inspiration. This service is the way we take the simple act of memory and make it into a holy act. It is not remembering, it is Yizkor. It is a promise to the future that we will not forget - we will never forget. It is a promise to our loved ones that we will uphold and continue the sacred values that they championed during their lifetime and instilled those values within our bones, in our hands, and on the tip of our tongues. Yizkor is the promise we make to ourselves that what we no longer have in body won't be lost. We will remember how they made us feel, how they held us, lifted us up, and sent us forward to achieve our dreams. We remember that their dreams are now our dreams, their love is now our love. And to fulfill the hard work of Yizkor means that we will live our dreams and we will share our love with a new generation. In this way we continue a chain of continuity, l'dor v'dor, that is more than just genetics. We continue a chain of holiness which passes from their heart to ours and then to a new generation of Jews who will dream a new dream and share a new love. It's not remembering, it's Yizkor, which takes memory and makes it holy.

A Meditation Before Yizkor

When I came into the sanctuary today I entered sacred space, a makom kadosh. Now, as we begin Yizkor I enter sacred time, zeman kadosh.

It is easy to enter into space, even when it is holy. My feet direct me. But it is not so easy to enter sacred time. That I must do with my head. But my head is full of thoughts...of what I must do today or tomorrow, of important matters and, yes, of trivial matters.

Help me, amidst this sacred space and time, to clear my mind of all those thoughts. Let my mind rise above them so that I may set my focus on where it should be at this time. Let my heart, filled with emotions in this moment, incline me to be fully present as I remember.

In this sacred hour, let my act of remembering be for a blessing. At this time I call to mind beloved parents, caring siblings, a loving spouse, precious children and other relatives and friends who have had profound influence on my life. Their reassuring hand, loving embrace, joyful laugh and uplifting support helped to fashion the person I am today. My recollections of their warmth, direction and caring continue to fashion me to this very day.

With my mind I remember my loved ones and friends. With my heart I continue to love them, every day as today.

Bathe me in healing memories. Cast Your light on me through the good works of those I remember today. Embrace me with unending recollections of the loving acts of those who have and always will be a guiding reflection of Your presence on earth.

May the words of my mouth and the actions of my hands become blessings that honor the memory of those I now recall at this Yizkor time.

Rabbi Neil Sandler

The Way To Life Eternal

“Physical life ends with death, but the influence of a life lives on...”

“Yizkor is itself eloquent evidence of immortality.

In our hearts still live the memories of those whom we fondly recall. Judaism teaches that life endures even after the death of the body; it teaches that a people can live and maintain its united existence when each generation firmly grasps the hand of the one preceding.”

“We evoke the memories of our forebears in order that we may continue to walk the same paths as they and cherish the ideals which were theirs.”

“Yizkor is a means by which we forge a link in that golden chain which binds the generations.”

Rabbi Harry H. Epstein z”l
Excerpt from a sermon “The Way To Life Eternal,”
Yom Kippur, 1930

A MENDED HEART

Persistent failures darken many lives. We try to correct them, but alas our heart restrains us. This all too human condition may be in our minds during Yom Kippur, the day dedicated to confession of sins and the vow to do teshuvah, to repent. We promise ourselves that we will do better, but after the shofar is sounded and we return to our homes and our daily routines, the persistent failure, like a stubborn grease spot on our clothes, just reappears.

In this, we are not alone. Levi Yitzchak also struggled with persistent failures. Every night before bed, he engaged in this soliloquy: "Levi Yitzchak: I have reviewed your behavior today and you have sinned." "Yes, I know, and I will not do it again." "This is what you promised last night. The night before that. Many nights before that. Why will this night be any different?" "Yes," he would reply, "I have failed many times, but tonight, I really mean it."

The Psalmist assures us that "weeping may tarry for the night, but joy comes in the morning." (Psalms 30:5).

Is it possible if before going to bed, or at some quiet moment during the day, we engaged in this ritual of speaking candidly to ourselves about a recent outbreak of anger and promised to be more restrained in the future, that our behavior would be different? Is it possible that, one morning, when confronted with some frustration or disappointment, and as our blood began to boil, we might suddenly remember that conversation with ourself, and we might restrain ourselves and remain calm? And if we were able to do this a second time and a third, might this be the beginning of "mending" a stubborn heart?

When our lives are shrouded in darkness, may our teshuvah will help transition us into a blessed morning, brightened by the hoped-for a mended heart.

It's a daunting, if not virtually impossible, task. Hopefully, we can find strength and encouragement in this sage observation, that while we may not complete the task, we are, nonetheless, not free to desist from it.

Holding On.....Letting Go

Hold on and let go.
On the surface of things, contradictory counsel.
But one does not negate the other.

Hold on...for death is not the final word.
The grave is not oblivion.
Hold on...Kaddish, Yahrzeit, Yizkor.
No gesture, no kindness, no smile evaporates...
Every embrace has an afterlife.
In our minds, our hearts, our hands.

Hold on and let go.
Sever the fringes of the tallit
And the knots that bind us to the past.
Free the enslaving memory that sells the future to the past.

Free the fetters of memory that turn us passive, resigned.
Release us for new life.
The closure of the funeral opens again
the world of new possibilities.
Return the dust to the earth not to bury hope,
But to resurrect the will to live.

We who remember are artists,
Aerialists on a swinging trapeze Letting go of one ring to catch another

Hold on and let go.
A subtle duality endows our life with meaning
Neither denying the past nor foreclosing the future.

We are part of the flow of life,
The divine process which gives and takes, creates and retains.
We, too, must give and take, seize, hold and release.

Rabbi Harold Schulweis z"l

Introduction To Memorial Prayers

ה' מֶה־אָדָם וַתִּדְעֵהוּ בֶן־אָנוֹשׁ וַתַּחֲשִׁבֵהוּ     Adonai, Mah adam v'teida'eihu, ben enosh vat'chashveihu

אָדָם לַהֲבֵל דָּמָה יָמָיו כְּצֵל עֹבֵר     Adam lahevel damah, yamav k'tzel over בִּבְקֹר יִצִּיז וְחָלָף לָעָרֵב יְמוּלֵל וַיָּבֵשׁ     Baboker yatzit v'chalaf, laerev y'molel v'yavesh

תָּשֵׁב אָנוֹשׁ עַד־דָּכָא וַתֹּאמֶר שׁוּבוּ בְנֵי־אָדָם     Tashev enosh ad daka, vatomer shuvu v'nei adam.

שׁוּבָה ה' עַד־מָתִי וְהִנָּחֵם עַל־עֲבֹדִיךָ     Shuvah Adonai ad matai, v'hinachem al avadecha

ADONAI, what are human beings that you take account of them, mortals that You care for them?
Humans are as a breath, their days like a passing shadow.
In the morning they flourish anew; in the evening they shrivel and die.
You return human to dust; You decreed, "Return, you mortals!"
Return, ADONAI! How long? Show mercy to Your servants.
Psalms 144:3-4 and Psalm 90:6,3,13

Responsively:

There is a time for everything;
there is a time for all things under the sun;
a time to be born and a time to die

a time to laugh and a time to cry
a time to dance and a time to mourn

a time to seek and a time to lose a time to forget and a time to remember:

This day in sacred convocation we remember those who gave us life.

This day we remember those who enriched our lives with love and beauty, with kindness and compassion, with thoughtfulness and understanding.

This day we renew the bonds that bind us to those who have gone the way of all the earth.

As we reflect upon those whose memory moves us this day, we seek consolation, and the strength and the insight borne of faith.

Tender as a parent with a child,
God is merciful toward us.

*God knows how we are fashioned;
God remembers that we are dust*

Eli Eli (My God, My God) Words: Hannah Senesh

אֵלִי אֵלִי שְׁלֹא יִגְמַר לְעֵלָם Eli, Eli, Shelo yigamer le'olam:

הַחֹל וְהַיָּם רִשְׁרֻשׁ שֶׁל הַמַּיִם Hachol vehayam, Rishrush shel hamayim

בְּרֶקַח הַשָּׁמַיִם תְּפִילַת הָאָדָם Berak hashamayim, Tefilat ha'adam.

Oh Lord, My God, I pray that these things never end:

The sand and the sea, the rush of the waters

The crash of the Heavens, the prayer of the heart

EXCERPTS FROM PSALMS

וַתַּחֲסֹרְהוּ מֵעֵט מַאֲלֹהִים וְכְבוֹד וְהָדָר Vat'chasreihu m'eit mei'Elohim, v'chavod
תַּעֲטֶרְהוּ v'hadar t'atreihu

What is man that You have been mindful of him?

Mortal man that You have taken note of him?

That You have made him almost Divine, and adorned him with glory and majesty.

ADONAI is always before me, at my right hand, lest I fall.
Therefore, my heart rejoices, my whole being exults,

The Gift of Time

Time has been called a thief: it robs us of our loved ones, steals the spring from our steps, the bloom from our cheeks, the smoothness from our skin.

But even as a thief, time has a core of compassion. For whatever time takes, something to be cherished is left behind.

In place of loved ones, time leaves undying and enduring lessons. The bloom that is stolen is replaced with lines gently etched in bright moments of shared laughter and somber moments of chastening sorrow.

If we can no longer run as quickly as we did yesterday, we can stand today with greater poise. And while time was stealing the smoothness from our skin, we were being given the opportunity to remove the wrinkles from our souls.

Time converts knowledge into wisdom, energies spent into experience gained. Time leaves us richer for what we have had.

Time thoughtfully permits us to use the fire of youth to drive the engines of age.

We may focus on what time took from us or on what time has given us. The hands of time take away, but they also give so much which can never be taken.

Rabbi Sidney Greenberg z"l

Reflections Before Yizkor

Death for us is a mixture of moods,
Fear of abandonment, separation, being left alone,
brooding anger,
fists shaken against the sky,
voices shouted against the grave, regrets over things that could have been,

that should have been,
but that were not, bittersweet nostalgia, ugly scenes transmuted into memories of mere mischief,

Sharp quarrels softened by the passing of time, words of stone smoothed by perspective, tears, salt of self-pity, brine of resentment.

And remembrance of that gray day, of a tear in the cloth,
of a handful of earth,

and now this moment,
when together we cling to courage,
we who have the right to mourn for others and for ourselves.

It is the dignity of the soul to hold on to the past;
it is the dignity of the spirit
to take hold of the future, to love again and to forgive others and ourselves,

to rise from grief,
to sew the torn garment,
to live, to love, even to laugh again,

and at the same time to remember – always to remember, always.

Rabbi Harold Schulweis z"l

Meditation

May we live unselfishly in truth and love and peace so that we will be remembered as a blessing as we now lovingly remember those whose lives endure as a blessing.

Our generations are bound to each other as children remember their parents. Love is as strong as death as husbands and wives remember their mates and as parents remember their children. Memory conquers death's dominion as we remember our brothers and sisters, grandparents and other relatives and friends.

The deaths of those we now remember left gaping holes in our lives, but we are grateful for the gifts of their lives. We are strengthened by the blessings they left us, by the meaning of their lives and by precious memories which comfort and sustain us as we recall them at this time.

May God remember you, my dear father. The memory of your life rises before me this solemn hour as I recall the kindness, love and encouragement you showed me during your life. With untiring zeal you provided for my physical and spiritual needs. You rejoiced in my achievements, you guided me in my perplexities, and strengthened me in my trials and disappointments. I can pay you the tribute you so richly deserve by cherishing the ideals and principles you taught me, by continuing the noble work you left unfinished, by loyally upholding the heritage of Israel which you transmitted unto me, and by serving my people and all who need me. Though you are gone from my physical view, the bond of love which unites us can never be severed. May the memories of your life spur me on to follow truth and righteousness. Amen.

In memory of a mother:

May God remember you, my dear mother. In this solemn hour, I call to mind the love and solicitude with which you tended and watched over my childhood, ever mindful of my welfare and ever anxious for my happiness. Many were the sacrifices you made to ennoble my heart and instruct my mind. What I have achieved is because of your influence, and what I am, I have become through you. Though you are no longer physically present, the lessons that you imparted unto me shall ever remain with me. If at times I have failed in showing you the love and appreciation you so worthily deserved, if I have been thoughtless and ungrateful, I ask to be forgiven. I pray that your spirit inspire me to noble and intelligent living, so that when my days on earth are ended, and I arrive at the Throne of Mercy, I shall be deemed worthy of you, and to be reunited with you in God. Amen.

Meditation in Memory of a Difficult Parent:

Dear God,

You know my heart. Indeed, you know me better than I know myself, so I turn to You before I rise for Kaddish. My emotions swirl as I say this prayer. The parent I remember was not kind to me. His/Her death left me with a legacy of unhealed wounds, of anger and of dismay that a parent could hurt a child as I was hurt. I do not want to pretend to a love or to a grief that I do not feel, but I do want to do what is right as a Jew and as a child. Help me, O God, to subdue my bitter emotions that do me no good, and to find that place in myself where happier memories may lie hidden, and where grief for all that could have been, all that should have been, may be calmed by forgiveness, or at least soothed by the passage of time.

I pray that You, who raised up slaves to freedom, will liberate me from the oppression of my hurt and anger, and that You will lead me from this desert to Your holy place.

-A prayer by Robert Sacks

In memory of the six million who perished in the Holocaust:

אל מלא רחמים שוכן במרומים, המצא מנוחה נכונה תחת פנפי השכינה. במעלות קדושים, וטהורים, כזהר הרקיע מזהירים. לנשמות כל-אחינו בני ישראל, אנשים, נשים, וטף, שנהרגו, שנשחטו ושנשרפו, ושנחנקו. בגן עדן תהא מנוחתם. אנא בעל הרחמים יסתירם בסתר כנפיו לעולמים, ויצרור בצרור החיים את נשמתם. ה' הוא נחלתם, וינוחו בשלום על משכבותיהם, ונאמר אמן

Exalted, compassionate God, grant infinite rest in Your sheltering Presence, among the holy and pure, to the souls of our beloved who perished in the Shoah – men, women, and children of the House of Israel, who were slaughtered and suffocated and burned to ashes. May their memory endure and inspire deeds of charity and goodness in our lives. May their souls thus be bound up in the bond of life. May they rest in peace. And let us say: Amen.

In memory of all the dead:

אל מלא רחמים שוכן במרומים, המצא מנוחה נכונה תחת פנפי השכינה. במעלות קדושים, וטהורים, כזהר הרקיע מזהירים. לנשמות כל-אלה שהזכרנו היום לברכה שהלה לעולמים, בגן עדן תהא מנוחתם. אנא בעל הרחמים יסתירם בסתר כנפיו לעולמים, ויצרור בצרור החיים את נשמתם. ה' הוא נחלתם, וינוחו בשלום על משכבותיהם, ונאמר אמן

Exalted, compassionate God, grant infinite rest in Your sheltering Presence, among the holy and pure, to the souls of all our beloved who have gone to their eternal home. Merciful One, we ask that our loved ones find perfect peace in Your tender embrace, their memory enduring as inspiration for commitment to their ideals and integrity in our lives. May their souls thus be bound up in the bond of life. May they rest in peace. And let us say: Amen.

Psalm 23

מִזְמוֹר לְדָוִד

ה' רָעִי לֹא אֶחְסָר:

A psalm of David.

Adonai is my shepherd; I shall not want.

בְּנֵאוֹת דָּשָׁא יִרְבִּיצֵנִי עַל־מִי מְנַחֲוֹת יִנְהַלֵּנִי:

God gives me repose in green meadows and guides me over calm waters.

נַפְשִׁי יִשׁוּבֵב יִנְחֵנִי בְּמַעְגְּלֵי־צֶדֶק לְמַעַן שְׁמוֹ:

God will revive my spirit and direct me on the right path for that is God's way.

גַּם כִּי־אֵלֶּה בְּגִיא צִלְמוֹת לֹא־אִירָא רָע כִּי־אַתָּה עִמָּדִי

Though I walk in the valley of the shadow of death,

I fear no harm for You are with me.

שִׁבְטְךָ וּמַשְׁעֶנְתְּךָ הֵמָּה יִנְחֵמֵנִי:

Your rod and Your staff comfort me.

תַּעֲרֹךְ לִפְנֵי שְׁלֹחַן נֹגֵד צָרָרִי

You prepare a banquet for me in the presence of my foes;

דִּשְׁנַת בְּשֶׁמֶן רֹאשִׁי כּוֹסֵי רוּיָה:

You anoint my head with oil; my cup overflows.

אֲדַטּוֹב וְחֶסֶד יִרְדְּפוּנִי כָּל־יְמֵי חַיִּי

Surely goodness and kindness shall be my portion

all the days of my life,

וְשָׁבַתִּי בְּבֵית־ה' לְאָרְךָ יָמִים:

And I shall dwell in the House of the Lord forever.

Exalted, compassionate God, comfort the bereaved families of this congregation. Help all of us to perpetuate the worthy values of the lives of those no longer with us. We lovingly recall the members of our congregation and other loved ones who have passed away since last Yom Kippur. They have a special place in our hearts. We pray this day that all who have sustained the loss of loved ones in the year gone by be granted comfort and strength.

Meditation Before Kaddish

When I die give what's left of me away to children and old men that wait to die. And if you need to cry, cry for your brother walking the street beside you. And when you need me, put your arms around anyone and give them what you need to give me.

I want to leave you something, something better than words or sounds.

Look for me in the people I've known or loved, and if you cannot give me away, at least let me live in your eyes and not your mind.

You can love me best by letting hands touch hands, and by letting go of children that need to be free. Love doesn't die, people do. So, when all that's left of me is love, give me away

Oyfn Pripetshik

Traditional Yiddish Folk Tune

A fire burns in the fireplace and the room is warm and the teacher is teaching little children the alphabet.

Look, children; remember, dear ones
what you are learning here, Say it again and again,
komets-alef, 'o'.

Children, when you will grow older you will understand how many tears are contained in these letters, and how much weeping.

Children, when you bear the burden of exile
and are completely worn out, may you draw strength from these letters.
Look to them!

*Oyfn pripetshik brent a fayerl,
Un in shtub iz heys.
Un der rebe lernt kleyne kinderlekh
Dem alef-beyz.
Refrain:
Zet zhe, kinderlekh, gedenkt zhe,

Vos ir lernt do,
Zogt zhe nokh a mol un take nokh a mol:
Komets-alef: o!
Az ir vet, kinder, elter vern,
Vet ir aleyne farshteyn,

Mourner's Kaddish

EXALTED and hallowed be God's great name in the world which God created, according to plan. May God's majesty be revealed in the days of our lifetime and the life of all Israel - speedily, imminently, To which we say Amen.

Blessed be God's great name to all eternity.

Blessed, praised, honored, exalted, extolled, glorified, adored, and lauded be the name of the Holy Blessed One, beyond all earthly words and songs of blessing, praise, and comfort.
To which we say Amen.

May there be abundant peace from heaven, and life, for us and all Israel.
To which we say Amen.

May the One who creates harmony on high, bring peace to us and to all Israel,
To which we say Amen.

THE HISTORY OF THE HOLOCAUST TORAH FROM OZORKOW

The Holocaust Torah was donated and dedicated by Rubin and Lola Lansky (z'l) on August 14, 1977, in honor of Tobias Drajhorn and in memory of the community of Ozorkow, Poland. Rubin and Lola were both Holocaust survivors, Lola from the big city of Lodz and Rubin from Ozorkow.

In 1975, during their first trip back to Poland in thirty years, they decided to return to Rubin's hometown. When they arrived in Ozorkow, once an industrial town whose Jewish population on the eve of the Holocaust numbered about 5,000 (33 percent of the total population), they immediately inquired about the Jews still living in the city. They were directed to one man, Tobias Drajhorn, the only remaining Jew in the Ozorkow community.

During the Nazi atrocities, when 2,000 Jews from Ozorkow were sent to the Chelmno death camp and 800 of the able-bodied to Lodz ghetto, Drajhorn and his uncle, Israel Frydman, secured their congregation's Torah and hid it in the attic of the shetl (small house of prayer). As the Nazis carried out their heinous reign, they destroyed all synagogues and Temples, beginning with the burning of Torahs.

Drajhorn, whose uncle had not survived in the Holocaust, returned to the shetl at 27 Hanke Street alone after the war and miraculously found the Torah still there. For thirty years, he kept it in a special room in his home, the same house he had lived in before the war.

When the Lanskys visited, Drajhorn ushered them into the room and showed them the Torah. He also took them to the site of the Jewish ghetto and to the Jewish cemetery in Ozorkow where he himself had collected and piled, next to the graves of the holy men (tzadikim), all of the gravestones that the Nazis had used to line the streets. He and his wife recruited Polish school children to plant pine tree saplings throughout the cemetery.

Drajhorn, now up in years and in failing health, desired to see the Torah put to use and offered it to the Lanskys for their synagogue. With Poland under Communist rule and no permit to transport the Torah, the Lanskys were afraid, at the time, to accept the Torah.

In August of 1975, when the Lansky's returned to Atlanta, Rabbi Harry Epstein of Ahavath Achim Synagogue sent a letter to Drajhorn requesting he donate the Torah to the synagogue. The letter was then used by Drajhorn to receive a special permit from Warsaw.

In the summer of 1976, the Lanskys received a letter from Drajhorn in which he said that the Polish government had sent him a telegram from Lodz notifying him that the Torah could be picked up but that he needed another permit from the Historical Society to show that the Torah was not being used for profit.

Meanwhile, the Lanskys, unable to return to Poland at the time, contacted the Atlanta Jewish Welfare Federation which was sponsoring a mission to Poland. A letter was given to a person on the tour to get in touch with Drajhorn and bring the Torah back. When he was contacted, Drdajhorn had just received the second permit, but had only three days before the tour left to mail and process the permit.

The situation had seemed to be hopeless to the Lanskys until, a few weeks later, a package arrived in the mail. Packed between two boards and wrapped in a white cloth was the Sefer Torah and Etz Chaim.

The Torah was inspected and miraculously found to be still kosher and able to be used in the synagogue.

In October of 1976, the Lanskys received a letter from Mrs. Drajhorn. When her husband learned of the arrival of the Torah, his “last living link with the past,” she recounted, “he was overcome with tears, he was so happy. He was beside himself that the Torah could be used again.”

In recounting the story, Mrs. Lansky commented, that, “Now, while everyone is looking for roots, there aren’t many ‘roots’ left in Poland.”

The cover of the Torah depicts the Great Synagogue where it was used in Ozorkow, Poland. The cover was dedicated during Shabbat services on August 24, 2002 and stitched by Karen Lansky Edlin in memory of the community of Ozorkow.

The Torah was re-dedicated on January 5, 2020, after being completely restored.

Czech Torah #1339

The Torah was written in the early 19th century (1800s) by an unknown scribe for the Jewish community in Plzen, Czech Republic. At the time, there were around 1,200 Jews living in Plzen.

As the Nazis took control of Czechoslovakia in 1942, they ordered all the Jewish communities to send their books, Torahs, gold and silver finials, and other important artifacts to Prague, where they were added to the collection of the Jewish Museum. Over 1,800 Torahs were collected and stored in the basement of a synagogue in Prague.

These Torahs were rediscovered by the Czech government in 1963. They were then authenticated, checked, and moved to London by a team including art dealer Erik Estorik, philanthropist Ralph Yalbon, Rabbi Harold Reinhart, and professor Chimen Abransky. 1564 scrolls came to London and the Memorial Scrolls Trust was created to keep the history of these scrolls alive and loan them out to Jewish communities around the world.

In May of 1977 Ruth and Sol Singer z"l reached out to The Memorial Scrolls Trust requesting a scroll for our Ahavath Achim Synagogue community. Scroll #1339 arrived in Atlanta in August of 1977. The scroll was moved into the Sylvia G. Cohen Museum, where it has lived since, as it was unusable for services.

In 2022, the Ahavath Achim community decided to restore Torah #1339 to a kosher and usable state. Over the past year, 100 families have participated in the restoration process. The calligraphy in which this Torah is written is no longer actively practiced. Only a small number of soferim know this exceptional style of writing and are permitted to rewrite the letters. We are honored and proud to include Czech Torah #1339 in our rotation of scrolls being used regularly.

Give Me The Vision

Shall I cry out in anger, O God, Because Thy gifts are mine but for a while?
Shall I be ungrateful for the moments of laughter,
The seasons of joy, the days of gladness and festivity,
When tears cloud my eyes and darken the world
And my heart is heavy within me?
Shall I blot from mind the love
I have known and in which I have rejoiced
When a fate beyond my understanding takes from me
Friends and kin whom I have cherished, and leaves me
Bereft of shining presences that have lit my way Through years of companionship and affection?

Give me the vision, O God, to see and feel That imbedded deep in each of Thy gifts
Is a core of eternity, undiminished and bright,
An eternity that survives the dread hours of affliction and misery.
Those I have loved, though now beyond my view,
Have given form and quality to my being.
They have led me into the wide universe
I continue to inhabit, and their presence
Is more vital to me than their absence.

What Thou givest, O Lord,
Thou takest not away.
And bounties once granted
Shed their radiance evermore.

When Yizkor is Recited

When Yizkor is recited, we affirm our love of those so near and dear who have physically left us.

Our love, however, does not rest on physical being; it is deeper than that.

When we love, we love the inner being of the beloved, the quality that makes for uniqueness. The spirit that creates personality and character.

*That does not ever disappear.
It remains with us as long as we live.*

Time eases the pain of loss but does not erode the affection and emotions we feel for the one who no longer moves about in our midst.

*We know that whatever lives, someday must die.
That, however, is true only of the material world.
The spiritual can endure forever.*

When we lose one who is dear, we mourn, but we must not mourn excessively. We must be grateful for what we have had and find comfort in our memories.

We must continue the task of living, paying tribute to our departed by contributing to the lives of others.

Rabbi Simcha Kling z"l

Look To This Day

Look well to this one day, for is life, the very life of life

In the brief course of this day lie all the varieties and realities of your existence; the bliss of growth, the glory of action, the splendor of beauty.

Yesterday is only a dream, and tomorrow is but a vision. Yet each day, well lived, makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and each tomorrow, a vision of hope. Look well, therefore, to this day, Such is the salvation of the dawn.

Bhagavad Gita

Whispers of a Willow

Strong and steady like the willow,
With roots down deep the force of a tornado only makes you look up towards the sky and dance,
And I am dancing with you.

A canopy of branches, marching to the beat of a thousand soldiers, swaying in unison to the chorus of the birds that call them home,
A steady protection for all you love
from the harsh midday sun, and I am sitting beneath your shade.

Your presence bold, not a man can pass without taking notice of your majesty.
But your whispers in the wind sing a different tune.
A tune of love, of encouragement to bloom, of laughter, like children running barefoot
through the woods.
And I am laughing with you.

And as your roots run dry, as the birds leave your branches, as your trunk returns to dirt, your whispers remain in the wind,
And I am forever listening.

The Ascending

I have passed a mountain peak and my soul is soaring in the Firmament of complete and unbound freedom;
I am far, far away, my companions, and the clouds are Hiding the hills from my eyes.
The valleys are becoming flooded with an ocean of silence, and the hands of oblivion are engulfing the roads and the houses;
The prairies and fields are disappearing behind a white specter that looks like the spring cloud, yellow as the candlelight and red as the twilight.
The songs of the waves and the hums of the streams are scattered, and the voices of the throngs reduced to silence;
And I can hear naught but the music of Eternity
In exact harmony with the spirit's desires.
I am cloaked in full whiteness;
I am in comfort; I am in peace.

Kahlil Gibran

When Great Trees Fall

When great trees fall,
rocks on distant hills shudder, lions hunker down in tall grasses,
and even elephants lumber after safety.

When great trees fall
in forests, small things recoil into silence, their senses eroded beyond fear.

When great souls die,
the air around us becomes light, rare, sterile.
We breathe, briefly.
Our eyes, briefly,
see with a hurtful clarity.

Our memory, suddenly sharpened, examines, gnaws on kind words unsaid, promised walks never taken.

Great souls die and our reality, bound to them,
takes leave of us.
Our souls, dependent upon their nurture,
now shrink, wizened.

Our minds, formed and informed by their radiance, fall away.
We are not so much maddened as reduced to the unutterable ignorance of dark, cold caves.

And when great souls die, after a period peace blooms, slowly and always irregularly.
Spaces fill with a kind of soothing electric vibration.
Our senses, restored, never to be the same, whisper to us.
They existed. They existed.
We can be. Be and be better. For they existed.

Maya Angelou

Remember Me

How should I be remembered - even through the sorrow and those moments of grief that come of their own accord, and shake us
and make us weak,
make us bend and crumble?

The sorrow passes,
and the grief,
in their own time:
A slow and stately cadence, steady, and the space between each beat lengthens like shadows at dusk.

Remember, and I am in the here, in the slow and steady rhythms of those in between spaces.
I am motion.
I am sound.
Find me here in the sweep of time in the grand abundance of life.
Remember me,
and do not grieve for long.
I am here in the song of traffic and midnight silence.
I am in fallen leaves
and wood smoke in winter,
I'm in your generosity and in your hope.
I am here,
in your sorrow,
your grief
your joy
your love.

Remember me;
I am here.

Memorial: a poem for Yizkor

Lit in a moment of in-betweens,
neither day nor night,
neither dark nor light,
this flame does not dance.

It casts no shadow
and holds no blessing,
only remembrance.
It rests upon the altar
of my kitchen counter, scarred from years of bounty and gentle benediction.
My empty cup
overflows with longing.

This flame burns without heat, but there is great blessing and grace in Your name.

Stacey Zisook Robinson

On and On (L'dor V'dor)

There is a past in every portrait
There is a truth in every tale
And all the days that came before us
Are as the wind upon our sails

There is a forest in every father
As he stands amidst the wild
There is a mountain in every mother
Her sturdy force of heart and mind

L'dor Vador nagid godlecha
The light in us shines on and on L'dor Vador nagid godlecha
For time may pass but it's never gone

There is no story without a sadness
And not a life without love
As we look back to the days that've passed
We hold on to the lights Above

There is a dream in every daughter
There is a song in every son
As all our tears are made of water
There is a home from which we come

Nefesh Mountain
